

Flooring Trends for 2018

In an effort to investigate closely the progress in carpet and flooring trends for 2018 their designs and colors plan, the variety of hand-made carpets, machine-made carpets and rugs, textile floor coverings and laminate flooring, In this article we will guide you to the word of Domotex display in Hanover, Germany. The opening statement of designer Alfredo Häberli summons it up charmingly.

Colorful trends in carpet design

The beauty of the colors and artistic patterns in the carpet design scene and the upcoming carpet color trends can be found amongst more contemporary and abstract creations that are coming to market this year. Our favorites are the Jalpur Rugs and their collection Unstring by Kavil.

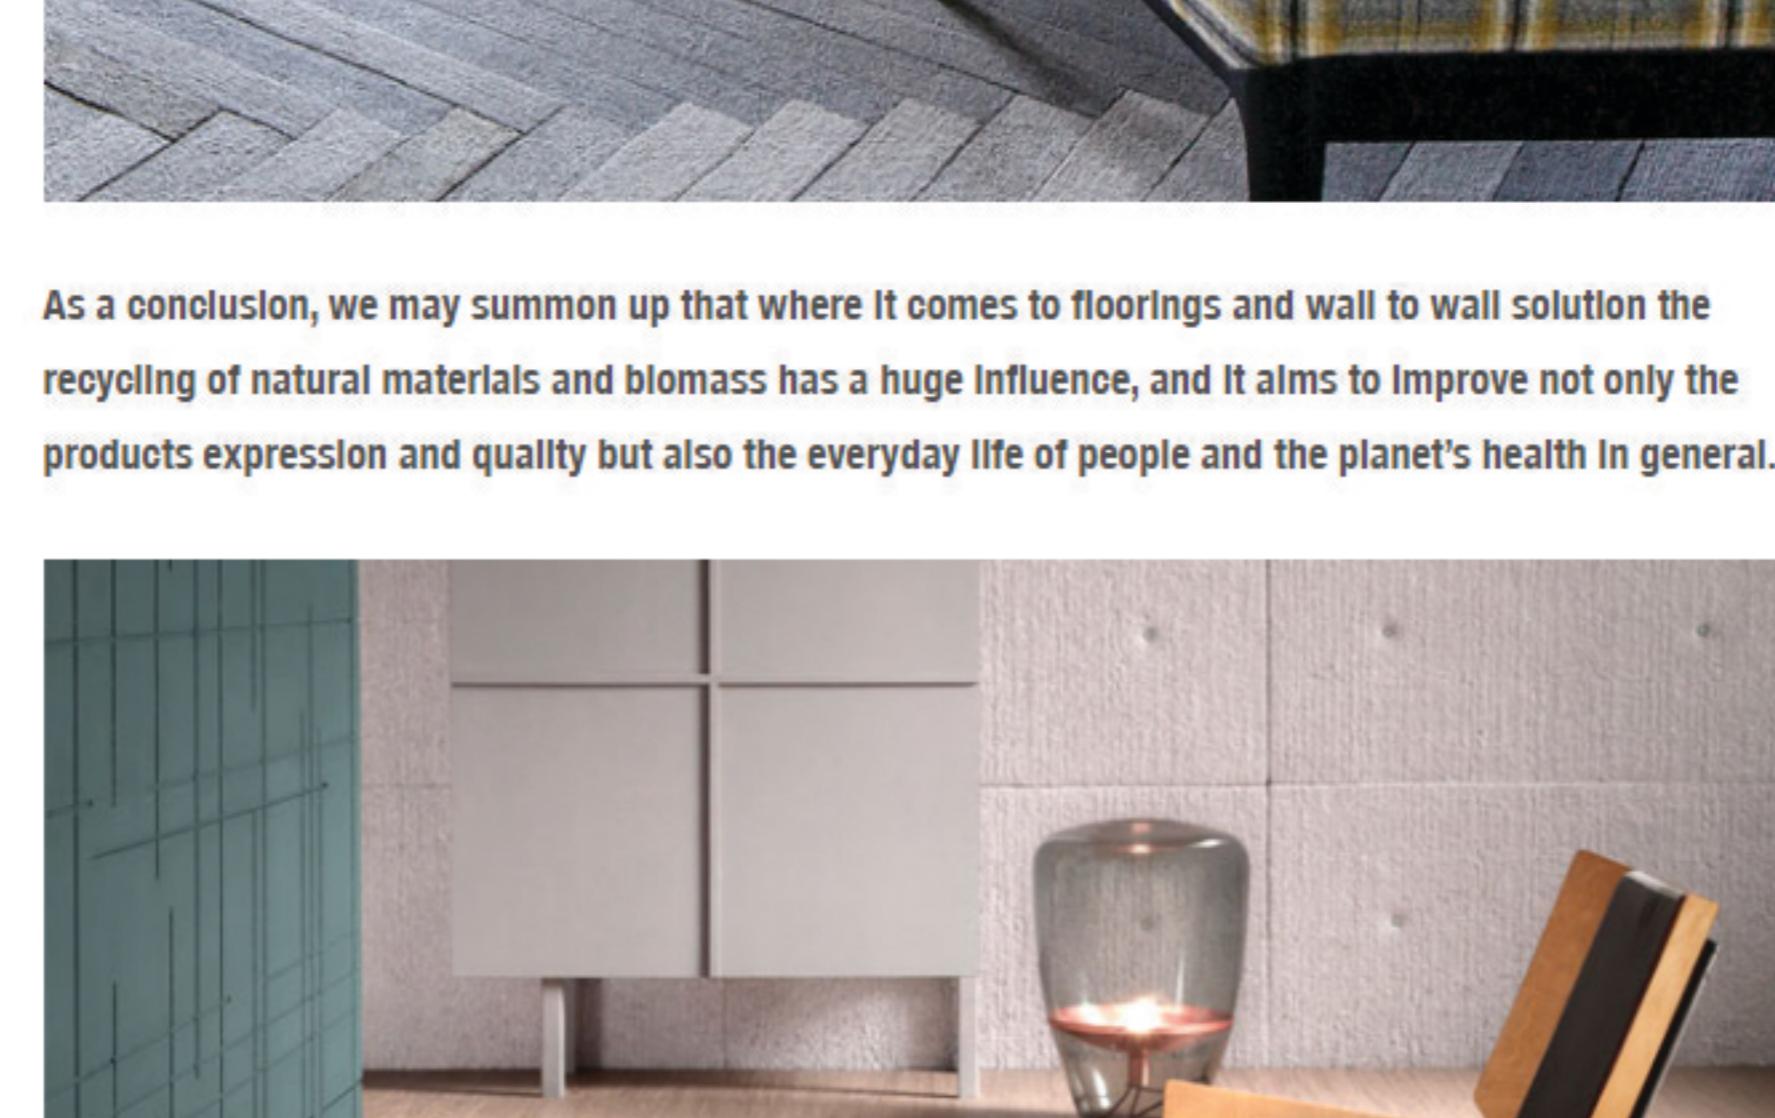

The artist draws her inspiration from the rich heritage of her childhood homes in rural India and the simplicity discovered through traveling the world. The minimalist and clear-lined design of her creations unravel pure beauty and elegant stylistics.

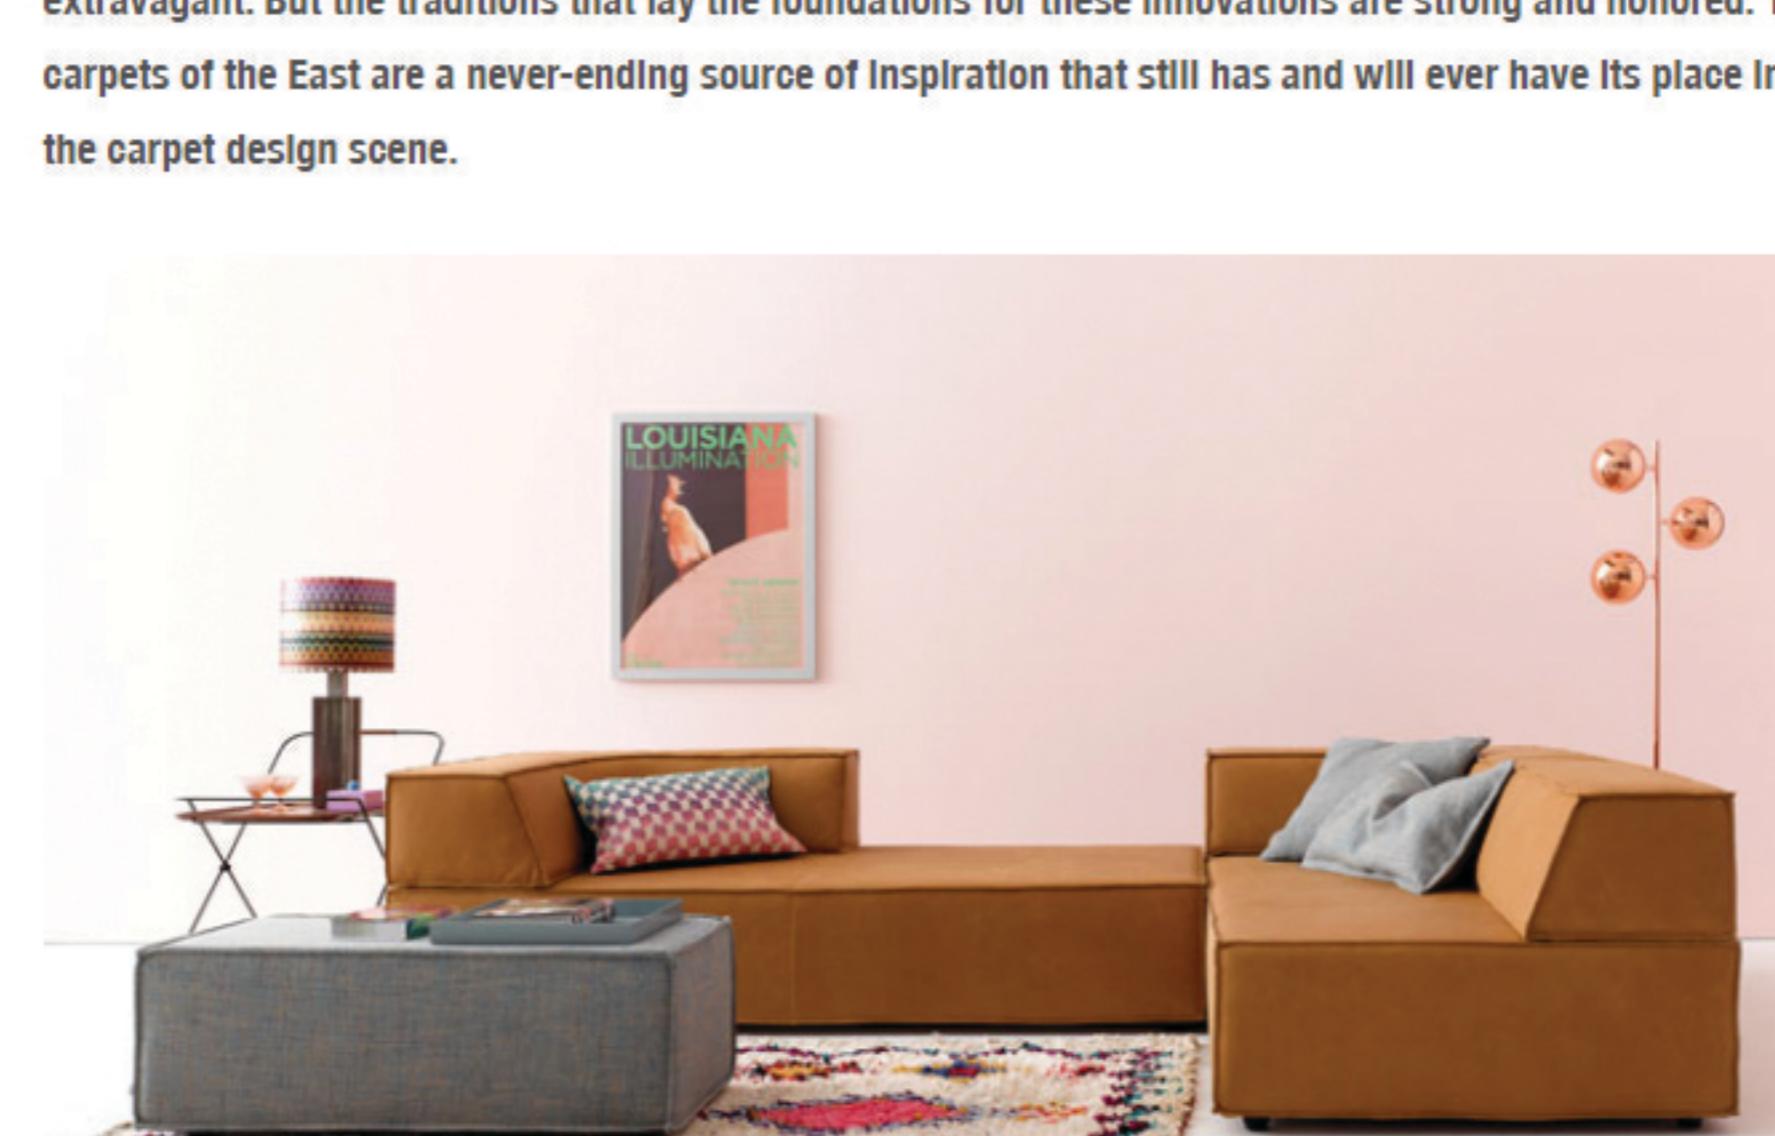

Astonishing are the silk carpets of Dena. Artist, Art Therapist and designer of Firesun carpets, Australia. Her carpet presented this year the Wrap – is a genuine piece of art that can take your breath away.

"According to the light reflections, the surface of the silk shows unusual color changes. Each carpet has many colors – up to 36 colors and 576 knots per square inch."

After this colorful explosion, we will lead you back to more minimalist contemporary carpets design, this time strongly influenced and inspired by traditions. This hand-knotted modern carpet from Battilossi's Pattern Mix Collection is like a sand map in the desert – beautiful, holding secrets and inspiring imagination. We love it!

As a conclusion, we may summon up that where it comes to floorings and wall to wall solution the recycling of natural materials and biomass has a huge influence, and it aims to improve not only the products expression and quality but also the everyday life of people and the planet's health in general.

The new technologies allow the designers to optimize the production, to explore new boundaries and to apply textures, colors, and shapes more sophisticated, advanced and creative than ever before. The carpets experience a Renaissance that brings them to the status of precious pieces of art – unique and extravagant. But the traditions that lay the foundations for these innovations are strong and honored. The carpets of the East are a never-ending source of inspiration that still has and will ever have its place in the carpet design scene.

