

Tweaking the famous adage to “a family that ‘works’ together, sticks together” is what sets this office apart. For the space, our client Rajeev Vyas’ brief was one without any ambiguity—he wanted a contemporary and minimally designed luxurious space, which also housed a dedicated, relatively feminine section for his daughters’ respective businesses. So, we approached the project as two separate offices, since both required different treatments, planning it such that the girls’ section was clearly demarcated from the rest. The first glimpse into the combined offices for Rajeev’s Vinar Overseas, Kritika Vyas Purohit’s Popinjay Events and Ruchika Vyas’ House of Cookies is an imposing 200 kg, black gunmetal door. A fitting addition considering his steel business, the door acts as the main entryway into this 2,800 sq ft space. The reception is separated from the office by a custom planter wall made using metal and wooden boxes. With verdant plants and abundant natural light around, the design conveys a sense of openness. To the left of the reception lies Kritika and Ruchika’s cabin, which can be split into individual workspaces by closing a sliding glass shutter. >>

CLOCKWISE, FROM TOP
A rug from Jaipur Rugs, leather sofa from Blue Loft and throw cushions from The Pillow Company are placed near the entrance; The back of the custom planter partition is seen from the reception; Lightique Concept’s pendant chairs from Ikea India, Alankaram bar stools and tiles from Bharat Floorings

1

THE RUG REPUBLIC

Made of hemp, wool and viscose, the Orsman rug, with its raw and textured surface, comes in muted colours that lend a touch of understated elegance to interiors. Website: www.therugrepublic.in

FROM THE PAGES OF INDIA DIARIES

TOP FINDS

Innovative exhibits and indigenous crafts from our country that made a striking impression

PRODUCED BY SONIA DUTT

ASSISTED BY CHAVI SOOD and ANEESHA BHADRI

SHAZE BREW-WARE

The Mumbai based company's latest launch, The Caffeinator, promises to provide a truly stimulating experience. Drizzling the water in concentric circles, it deepens the tantalising flavour and aroma of coffee. Website: www.shaze.in

2

5

NEERU KUMAR

The textile designer crafts abstract wall art in mesmeric patterns, along with home fabrics in handspun silk, linen and cotton—combining traditional techniques, with a modern sensibility. Website: www.neerukumar.in

4

JAIPUR RUGS

Inspired by the rich architectural heritage of India, the Jaipur Wunderkammer Hunter Green or Granite Green rug highlights the intriguing play of light and shadow as seen on a sundial. Website: www.jaipurrugs.com

3

ASIAN HERITAGE FOUNDATION

Taking inspiration from the largest tribal community of India, these hand painted ceramics in neutral colours feature Gond art. Website: www.asianheritagefoundation.org